The show the Pentagon couldn't stop!

The legendary, lost
1972 film starring
JANE FONDA
and
DONALD SUTHERLAND

A riveting slice of the Vietnam anti-war movement, now available for the first time

This raucous film revives the wonderfully campy, yet biting theater of Jane Fonda and Donald Sutherland's Free The Army (or, more popularly, "F The Army") Tour. A gritty mix of rollicking performances and GI interviews, FTA juxtaposes lighthearted political satire with the somber realities of war, occupation, and the absurdities of military life.

Fonda and Sutherland are joined on stage by an all-star cast of musicians and activists including folk musician Len Chandler, songstress Rita Martinson, and comedian Paul Mooney. It all adds up to a fresh look at the Vietnam anti-war movement through the songs and skits that shook a generation.

- Sundance Channel Premiere: February 3, 2009.
- Produced by and starring Hollywood icons Jane Fonda and Donald Sutherland, and featuring an all-star cast of musicians and activists.
- The mystery surrounding the film is as compelling as the tour itself: One week after it appeared in theaters in July 1972, at the height of Nixon's paranoia, all prints of the film disappeared and it has been available only on bootleg copies—until now.
