

The RESTLESS CONSCIENCE

RESISTANCE TO HITLER IN NAZI GERMANY

A Film by Hava Kohav Beller

A fascinating look at the anti-Nazi resistance inside Germany

In 1944, 170 German citizens were brought to trial and convicted as participants in a plot to assassinate Adolf Hitler. This was not an isolated act, but only the last of more than 20 attempts to overthrow the Nazi Regime. This is the story of a resistance that, prior to this film, had largely eluded popular consciousness.

Powerful and provocative, Academy Award® nominee THE RESTLESS CONSCIENCE explores the motivating principles and activities of the anti-Nazi resistance inside Germany from 1933 to 1945. The film is a deeply moving portrayal of individual destinies, focusing on the moral and political evolution of individuals whose consciences were at odds with an overpowering national consensus.

- Academy Award® Nominee for Best Documentary.
- The subject of resistance movements during WWII is gaining more attention with Hollywood feature films such as Defiance (starring Daniel Craig, Liev Schreiber) and Valkyrie (starring Tom Cruise) releasing in December 2008.
- The film focuses on the ethical struggle of ordinary people (including German soldiers, civil servants, and a Lutheran pastor) faced with extraordinary events, appealing to anyone interested in questions of conscience.
